FCHS Is People Who Are Full Of Action, Imagination,

Linda Goggin takes time out from the hectic school day to consider the rapidly approaching life of an FCHS senior.

And New Dreams

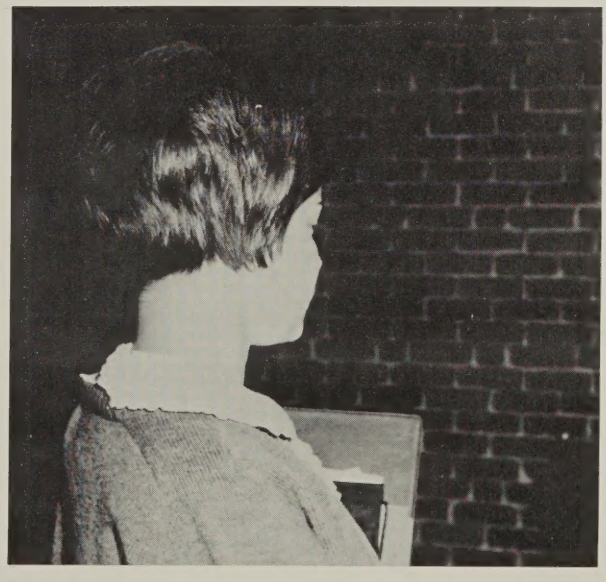

In the warm-up before a big game, Mark Hudson employs the masterful technique that is characteristic of the athletes at FCHS.

People, the vital and ever-changing elements of any school, were the most important force at Franklin County High School. Although personalities and abilities varied widely, these people worked together, and, as a result, each was able to realize his individual ambitions and dreams. By utilizing their every experience and through endless patience and practice, they instructed and they accomplished.

Students, who yesterday were children, had devoted themselves to searching and to learning, and had thus become adults. They had made wise use of their gifts, and practiced the priviledges and duties that they had been given. Their courage, self-reliance, and determination solidified into success.

Teachers, in having helped to fashion these new adults, had fulfilled their central purpose. They had met the responsibilities and challenges tirelessly, and their unselfish effort had proven itself worthwhile. These teachers and their students had reached the height of their ambitions, and had realized their objectives.

These were the people.

Tenth
Year
Mathematics

The faculty and administration were confronted with the most significant tasks of their lives, not only in the organization of the vast educational system, but also in providing vital individual assistance to each member of the student body. Because everyone met his responsibilities and all acted together, the administration was able to perform numerous services that would otherwise have been impossible.

Although some disagreement was heard and problems sometimes arose, competent leaders discovered solutions to the problems confronting them. Always organizing and reorganizing, the administration kept Franklin County High School running smoothly, and at the same time guided the students over seemingly insurmountable obstacles. Instilling knowledge into young minds was not enough; the faculty helped each individual to gain the wisdom that proved the most important result of his high school career.

The students found that words of appreciation were inadequate for their teachers' total dedication. These young people offered instead their admiration and deepest respect for the faculty, who had given unselfishly of themselves that each student might be able to stand independently in a future of his own.

As Dr. Ramsey Retires From School Board,

Harold W. Ramsey, A.B., M.A., Ll.D., served as Superintendent of Franklin County Public Schools from July 1, 1927, until his retirement on July 1, 1968. Loved, revered, and respected by all, our Superintendent Emeritus has not only maintained his sincere interest in our welfare, but has been taking advantage of more spare time by serving public education in all the commonwealth of Virginia. We commend Governor Godwin for his wisdom in having appointed our own Dr. Ramsey to the Virginia State Board of Education. Public education in Virginia will improve because of Dr. Ramsey's intimate knowledge of the problems on the local level.

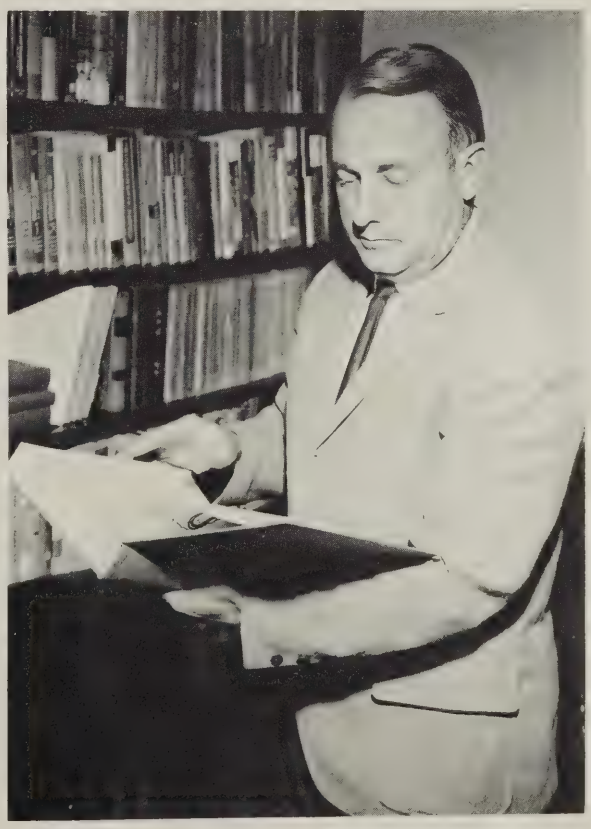

Mr. Dillon Begins Work With Administration

Mr. C. I. Dillon, a native of Franklin County, had completed his first year as Superintendent of Schools. Previously Mr. Dillon had served as a teacher, coach, and athletic director at Franklin County High School. He was principal of Rocky Mount Elementary School before becoming General Supervisor of Franklin County Schools. He held this position for four years prior to his appointment as Superintendent.

In his new position, Mr. Dillon was the professional educator appointed by the School Board as their executive officer to lead them in forming policies for all the public schools in Franklin County. Mr. Dillon and the Board kept the educational system on the move in order to meet the increasingly varied needs of the students. He also kept the well-being of all students in mind; when the weather was inclement, the decision to close schools in the interest of safety was his.

Mr. Dillon received his B.A. from the University of Richmond and his M.Ed. from VPI. He has also done post-graduate study at the University of Virginia.

The Administration Directs School Life

Mr. Bruce M. Kent, principal of Franklin County High School, showed his dedication to his profession through the strength and efficiency with which he ran the school. Establishing harmony between students and teachers, providing a balanced curriculum, and maintaining high standards throughout the school were a few of the major concerns which filled his busy day. In spite of the large number of students, he gave each person individual attention to make sure that everyone received the greatest benefit from his education at FCHS. Always working beyond regular school hours, he represented the school, and greeted its visitors at professional and civic functions. Realizing that a leader must have cooperation, Mr. Kent took time to promote a friendly relationship among the students, faculty, and the administration.

Through his wise and outstanding management, Mr. Kent created an atmosphere wherein students prospered both mentally and morally.

Mr. Kent earned his B.S. and M.Ed. degrees at the College of William and Mary.

And Keeps The School Running Smoothly

Mr. Wesley Naff, the assistant principal, contributed much to Franklin County High in many ways. In enforcing discipline, his friendliness and fairness in settling problems throughout his years at Franklin County have brought forth respect and admiration from the students. He also guided students through his sponsorship of the influential Student Cooperative Association. Besides these time-consuming duties, he sold tickets to sports events and approved excuses for student absences.

Mr. Naff received his B.S. from VPI and his M.Ed. from Radford College.

Without the help of secretaries, the administrators would have had an overwhelmingly difficult job in the operation of the school. Providing the necessary assistance, Miss Hall and Mrs. Adkins typed, arranged files, and did many, many jobs to keep the school functioning efficiently. As well-managed finances are the root of a successful school, Mrs. Brown's work as bookkeeper played an important part in the achievements of Franklin County High School.

The Guidance Department Instructs And Counsels

In order to fill the present needs of students at Franklin County High School, the guidance counselors advised each person of the curriculum most helpful to his future plans. In the spring each student had an individual session with his counselor in order to organize his schedule for the coming year.

As an increasing number of FCHS graduates continued their education at college, the guidance department endeavored to match each student with the college or university at which he would be happiest and would reach his full potential. The office was well supplied with catalogues and information on all state colleges and many schools in other areas.

Students who finished their formal education at high school graduation found that the guidance department had help for them, also. There they had access to many books and pamphlets which explained the advantages of the variety of opportunities open to high school graduates.

Efficient Staffs Keep School Comfortable And Safe

"Oh, boy, spaghetti and French bread for lunch!" That was just one of the many compliments that delighted the dieticians and cafeteria workers of Franklin County High School. The cafeteria, together with the efficient staff of experienced dieticians, cooks, and student helpers, endeavored to provide each student with tasty, well-balanced meals each day during the school session.

The custodial staff performed effectively the tasks which improved the appearance of the campus of FCHS. The custodial staff kept the shrubbery and lawn in good order and maintained cleanliness and warmth throughout the building. In addition to their other duties, the staff worked with the cafeterial staff to keep the students supplied with sterile trays, plates, and flatware.

Franklin County's well-trained and experienced bus drivers provided the people of FCHS with a safe route to and from school.

Providing Stimulants For Study

"That book was due last Tuesday. You'll have to pay a fine." Because students were busy, many times the due date for books slipped by unnoticed; however, the library charged only minor fines.

The library served a dual purpose for students at Franklin County High School. It provided them with a quiet, comfortable place to study and encyclopedias and other reference sources with which to study. Having over six thousand books and subscribing to fifty-six magazines, the library was well stocked with materials to furnish pleasure reading which helped students to increase their background of knowledge and widen their outlook.

Because of a lack of classroom space, study halls met in the library each period. This plan provided use of the materials at regular intervals.

Although a full-time librarian was employed in addition to secretarial help, it was necessary to make use of student members of the Library Club. These girls served their fellow students by locating needed materials and checking out books and magazines.

Stress Better Communication In English Classes

MRS. GENEVA WOODY
B.S., M.S. Radford College . . . English

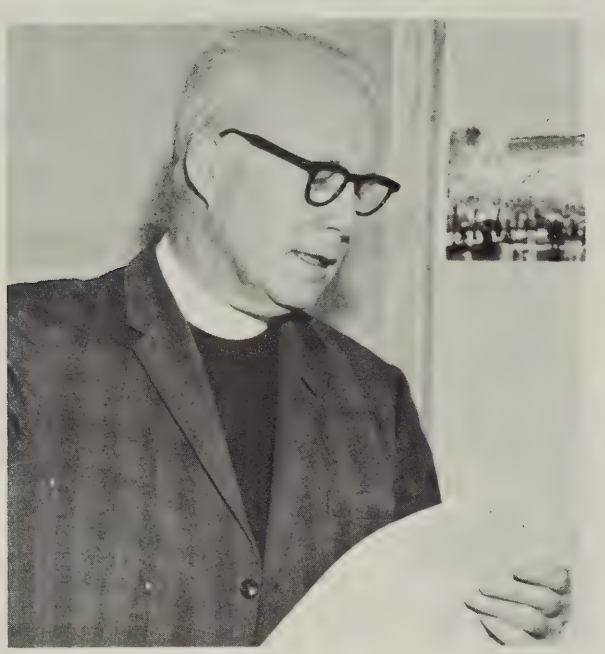

The primary function of the English Department was to educate students in the use of their own language. Diagrams, written exercises, and oral drills helped students to understand each part of a good sentence.

The English teachers conveyed knowledge of both grammar and literature to every students. Self-expression in written and spoken forms was stressed with book reviews, themes, poems, vocabulary drills, and oral reports.

The importance of English was so emphasized at Franklin County High School that every student had to acquire five credits in English before graduation.

Literature classes increased the culture of all students. Sophomores concentrated on short stories from many sources. Juniors received intensive instruction in all forms of American literature, while Seniors advanced into an over-all course of English literature.

Realizing that an understanding of other nations is necessary to live in a modern world, the foreign language department worked to impart knowledge not only of the language of these peoples, but also of their traditions, beliefs, and history.

Foreign languages awakened in the students a new awareness of the world. This study brought to life places and people which had heretofore seemed to be only shadowy parts of the imagination.

Franklin County students were offered up to three years of French, Spanish, or Latin. The first year strongly stressed grammar and vocabulary. In the second year, grammar and vocabulary retained their importance, but the student advanced into reading and independent research. Third year students found new interest in their language through extensive reading and preparing related reports and term papers in that language.

Examine Aspects Of A Fast-Moving World

"Nixon's got that ooh-ah!" was only one of the slogans reverberating through the halls of Franklin County High School during this election year. Followers of each presidential candidate were encouraged by the Social Studies Department to express their support and the platform of the Presidential hopeful in whom they believed. Because these teachers realized the importance of student involvement, they led vigorous discussion and explored virtually every aspect of American politics.

In addition to the study of the Presidency, students were also introduced to many forms of government and democratic principles. They began to understand the basic liberties and responsibilities of each individual as a member of the student body and of the nation.

The account of past events and the interpretation of history's affect on mankind, together with a basic knowledge of the institutions in which men function, led students to feel great pride in the U.S.A.

2+2=5 OOPS! Many students found that in the hurry and pressure of math tests, it was easier to understand algebraic functions than to get the little details of adding done correctly.

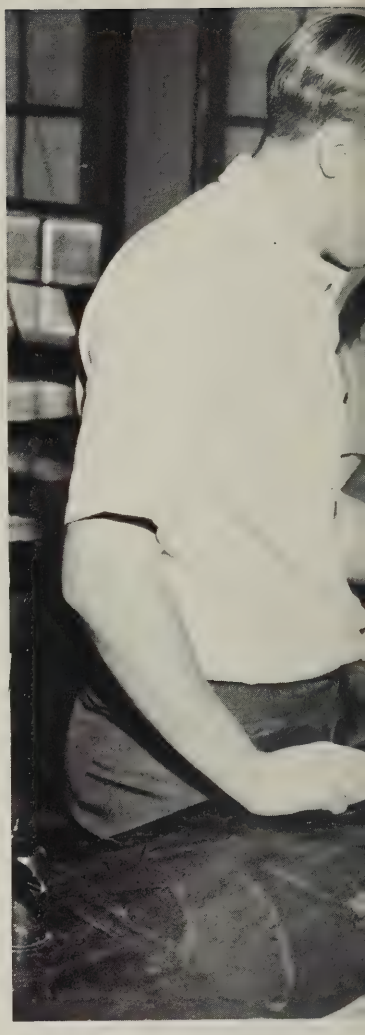

The space age having arrived, a tremendous advance was heralded in the significance of mathematics. Although the mind quailed at the realization of the complexities of the subject, students at Franklin County High School tackled bravely the tasks of mastering mathematics, and of making this mastery serve them. Their studies led them from business math, geometry, and algebra to the abstractions of analytic geometry, calculus, and trigonometry.

As one of the three R's, mathematics was emphasized all through the students' school years. Only as they finished high school courses and began to understand the basic principles of mathematics, did the subject's real importance make itself evident.

Why are plants green? What are the properties of nitrogen? Why is my hair brown and not blonde? How can a space ship stay in orbit? These were just a few of the questions answered in the science classes at FCHS.

The Science Department endeavored to stimulate thought, to develop the scientific attitude, and to encourage experimentation. It inspired students to seek careers in the lucrative field of scientific endeavor and to gain an understanding of the part that science plays in our modern world. Besides educating and training the potential scientists, the study involved students in other aspects of the many fields open to them through science.

The students found the activities of the science classes both interesting and informative. Students found that their efforts brought preparation for the future and knowledge of what was going on around them.

Displaying the thrift and skill of the modern homemaker, Glenda Pendleton and Cheryl Leedy refinish furniture for the Home Economics Department.

Burned food, pricked fingers, and dresses which slightly resembled sacks were characteristics of untrained girls in the beginning of each class. Nevertheless, capable instruction and natural talents soon made a promising homemaker of each student.

Beginning with basic skills in the first year, the girls were introduced to the fundamentals of sewing, cooking, and child care. They learned to plan a family budget and to entertain graciously. Naturally, the second year of home economics was more difficult and involved. Instead of simply cooking various dishes, students were taught to plan an entire meal with special attention given to timing and nutritional balance. In learning to furnish their home tastefully, each girl drew plans for designing, decorating, and landscaping a home. Sewing and home projects were also required of each student. When a girl reached her third year of homemaking, the basic skills had become natural, and she then advanced into a detailed study of home management which helped prepare her to be a successful wife and mother in the future.

The Business Department of Franklin County High School offered courses for both vocational and college-bound students. The Department, long recognized for its superiority and variety of available courses, was headed by Miss Patsy Jefferson. For the future secretary and businessman, courses were offered in Gregg Shorthand; Typing I and II furnished the student with the skills of accepted procedures in typing business letters and office correspondence.

Bookkeeping I and II acquainted the future accountant with the process of bookkeeping, while General Business and Business Law gave the students a background necessary for all business employees. Courses in Office Practice and Vocational Office Training taught studnets howto operate many different office machines. The knowledge gained from all these courses bettered the students' chances of securing an office job after graduation.

The Distributive Education Department of Franklin County High School was a co-operative program which allowed students to attend classes while working part-time with local business firms.

Exploring through the study and practice of the many facets of retailing, students exercised their knowledge by preparing various projects concerning marketing and sales. While many Distributive Education students planned to take additional training after graduation, those students not seeking post-high school training found that participation in the program enabled them to enter the field of marketing with a certain measure of skill.

In class sessions the DE students discussed such fields as advertising, salesmanship, job interviews, merchandising, and store layouts. Along with the many activities carried on in local businesses and schools, the great majority of the students were members of the Distributive Education Club of America.

Students For A Better Appreciation of Culture

Through a critical study of painting and drawing by master artists, art students were encouraged to develop a style and technique uniquely their own. Concentrated work was done by each in the various media of charcoal, water colors, tempera, oil, and pastels. The basic colors, pigments, and methods were studied to enable a pupil to perfect his work. Outstanding work was displayed in the Art Department and in the main lobby of the school.

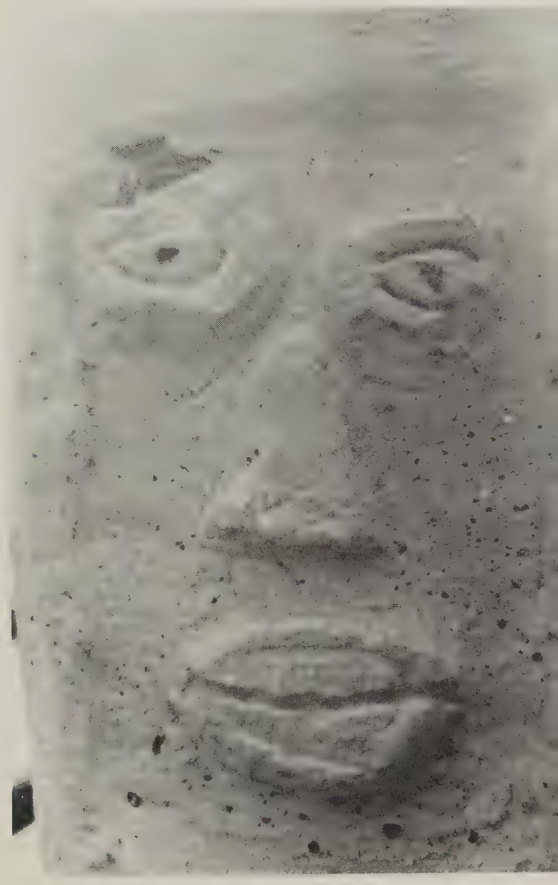

Students enrolled in art classes at Franklin County High School reached for three main objectives. The first was the activation of the sense of creativity, while the second was to build a basic foundation of knowledge by the study of the old masters. The final objective was to entail exploration of the vast possibilities in the field of art. All this was accomplished by observing the world at large and recognizing the artistic value of it all.

Advanced students in the Vocational Agriculture Department helped various clubs and organizations to prepare projects or to build floats for school-related activities. These boys also served by driving tractors and floats in the annual Homecoming parade.

In the shop, students were trained in the fundamentals of arc welding, tool fitting, electricity, wood craft, and tractor maintenance. The boys learned in the classroom the proper methods of cultivating and harvesting crops and in the correct care and feeding of animals.

Physical Education Classes Help Keep Students In Shape

Physical Education students at Franklin County High School made progress in the field of sports and at the same time developed ideals of sportsmanship. Gymnastics plus individual and team sports provided a routine which helped to develop muscular co-ordination.

To appreciate, develop, and maintain physical fitness were the goals of each physical education student. While agility, balance, co-ordination, speed, and endurance were stressed, emphasis was also placed on contribution to the class in all areas.

Each physical education class period began with calisthenics. Boys mastered skills of football, basketball, tumbling, volleyball, wrestling, and softball. Although the girls were introduced to many of the fundamentals of these and other sports, their curriculum included square dancing, table tennis, soccer, and kickball.

The sound of music brightens a busy day as these choir members gather in the choir room during lunch to practice a few of their favorite songs.

Faculty, Students, And Other Listeners

MRS. FRANCES KEEN
B.S. Agricultural and Technical University . . . Choir

Harmonious sounds filled the halls each time a choir class was held. Since one-half credit was given for each year of choir, many students found that singing was one of the most enjoyable ways to work toward a diploma. However, the purpose of choir was not only enjoyment, but also the development of natural talents for singing and the improvement of voice control.

Through hard work and practice, each of the three choirs was able to blend varied voices to produce a beautiful unity of sound to delight the audience. Often the audience was the student body of Franklin County High School as the choirs performed their talents in school assemblies. Occasionally, even the members of a school club were enough to entice a performance from choir students.

Although singing for the school was enjoyable for the choir members, the climax of the year was the Spring Concert. Attired in evening clothes, the choirs gave a glittering performance as the culmination of their efforts.

The Bands Performances In Various

MR. JOHN SURGENER
B.A. Wake Forest University . . . Instrumental Music

The Franklin County High School band, although smaller in number than some bands, brought beautiful music and happiness into the life of each student and his family throughout the county.

The Band entertained at many school functions and at music happenings in the area. The members provided harmonious melodies at the annual Christmas and Easter assemblies and preformed for the public in various parades.

During the year the Band exhibited its skill at many sport events, and gave several splendid concerts. It kept the school in the victory spirit at the pep rallies and games. Spectators always looked forward to half time at home football games when the band played and marched, and the majorettes delighted all with exciting and well-executed routines.

Each person at Franklin County High School was proud of the manner in which the FCHS band represented them and the entire county.

Members of the Franklin County High School Band are (1) English, Kingery, Singleton, Cundiff, Adams, Boitnott, Cundiff, English. (2) Fralin, Eicher, Brown, Young, Meador, Sink. (3) Fisher, Barnhart, Linkous, Campbell. (4) Dillon, Housman, Goad, Pagans, Gruver. (5) Meador, Kent, Finney, Fitzgerald, Beckner. (6) Price, Kingery, Boitnott, Boitnott. (7) Love, Goodpasture, Heckman, Wimmer, Ainsworth. (8) Loudermilk, Perdue, Byrd, Fitzgerald, Atkins.

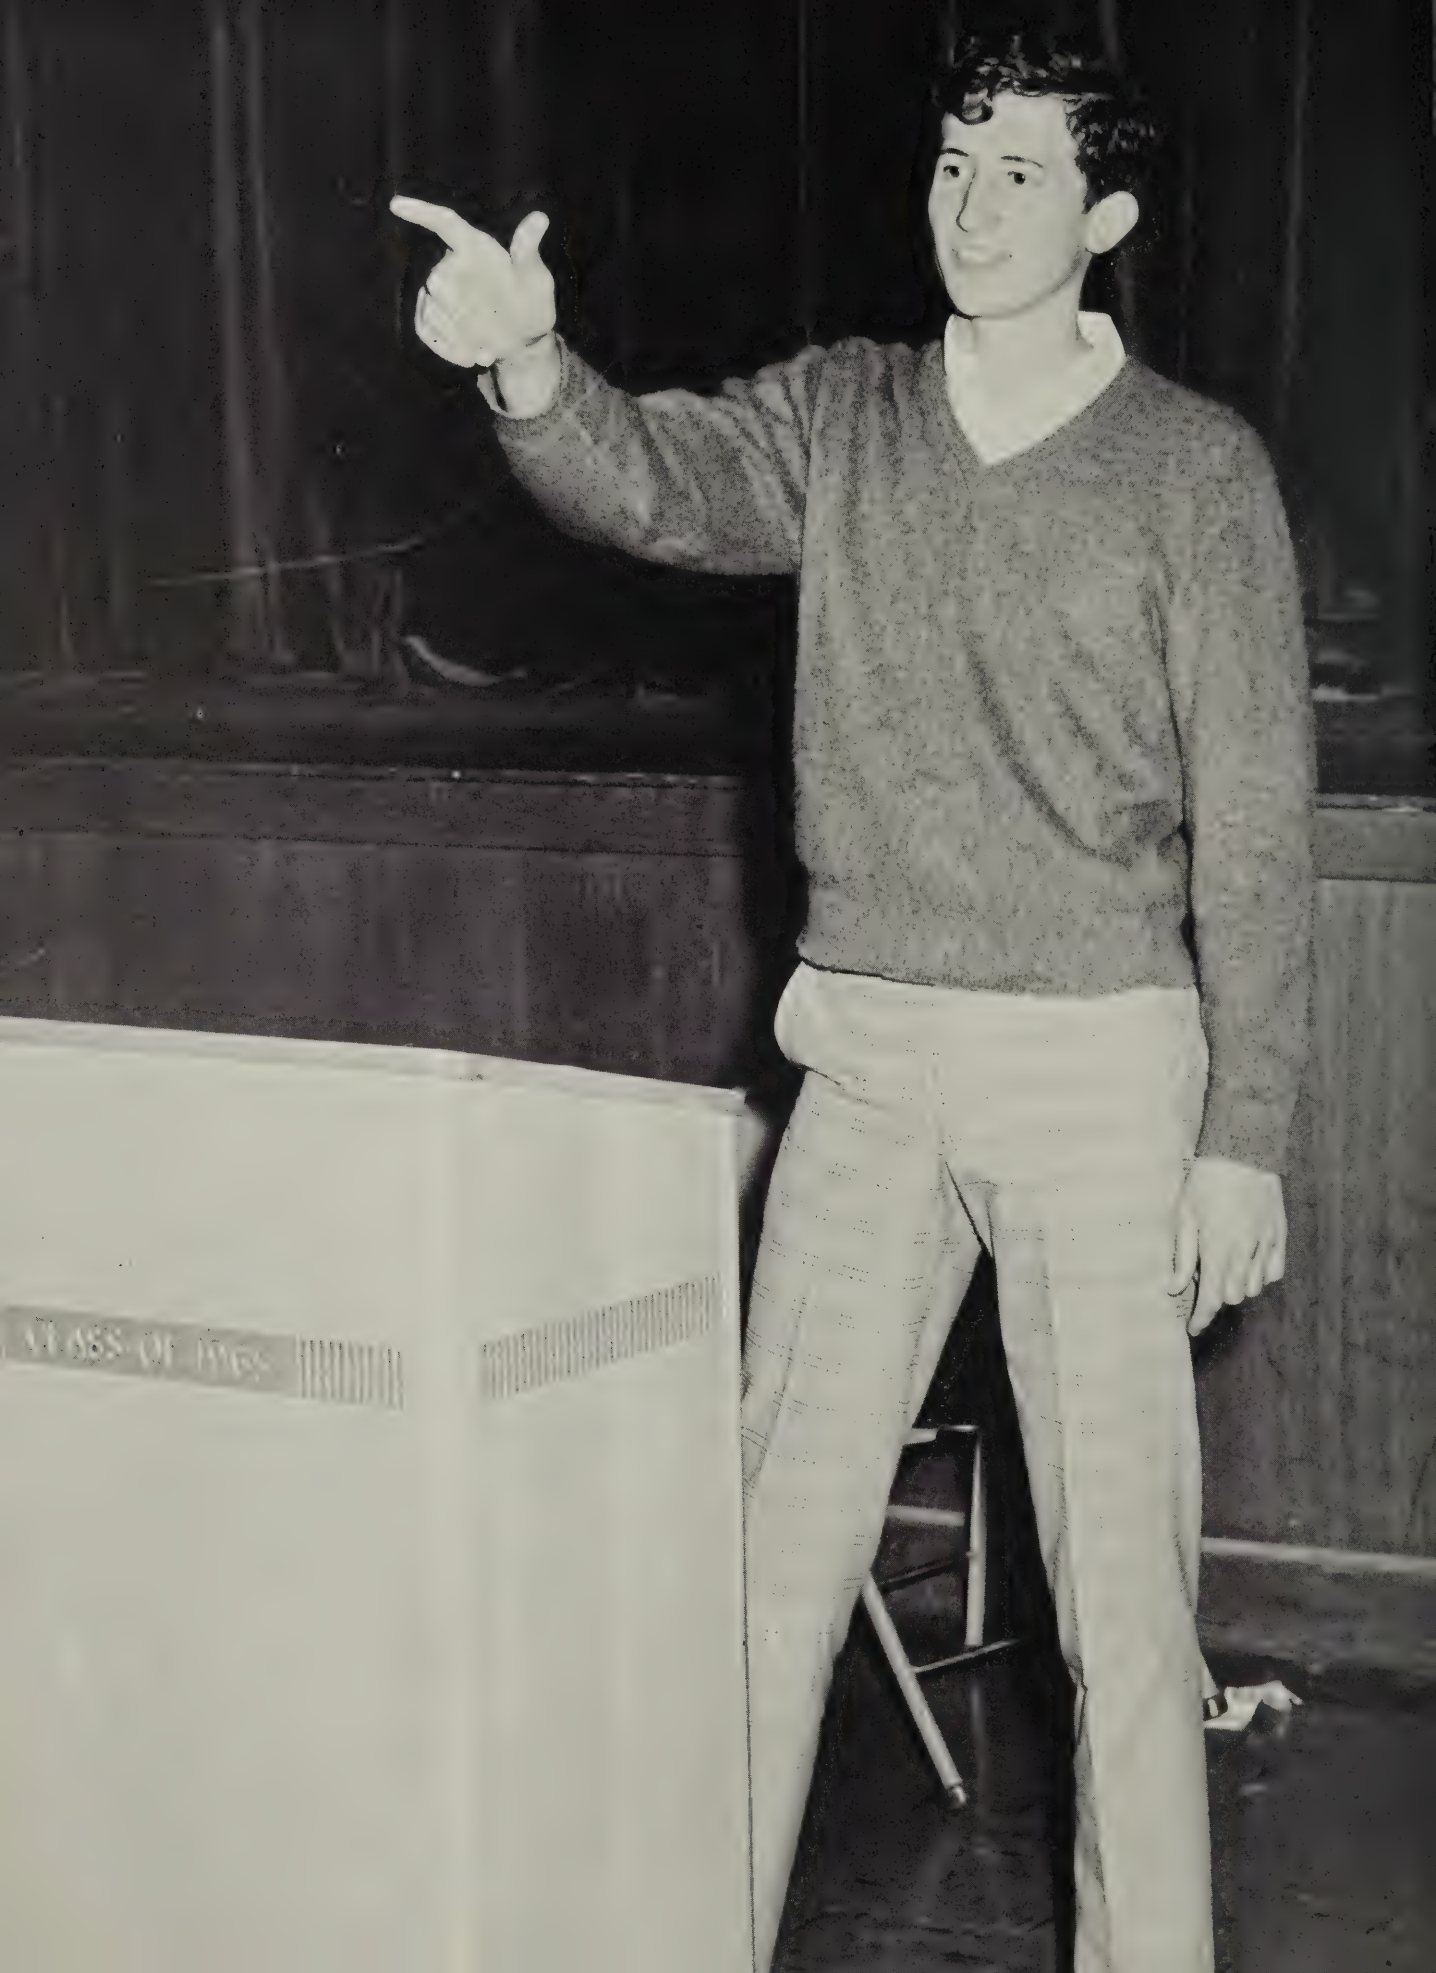

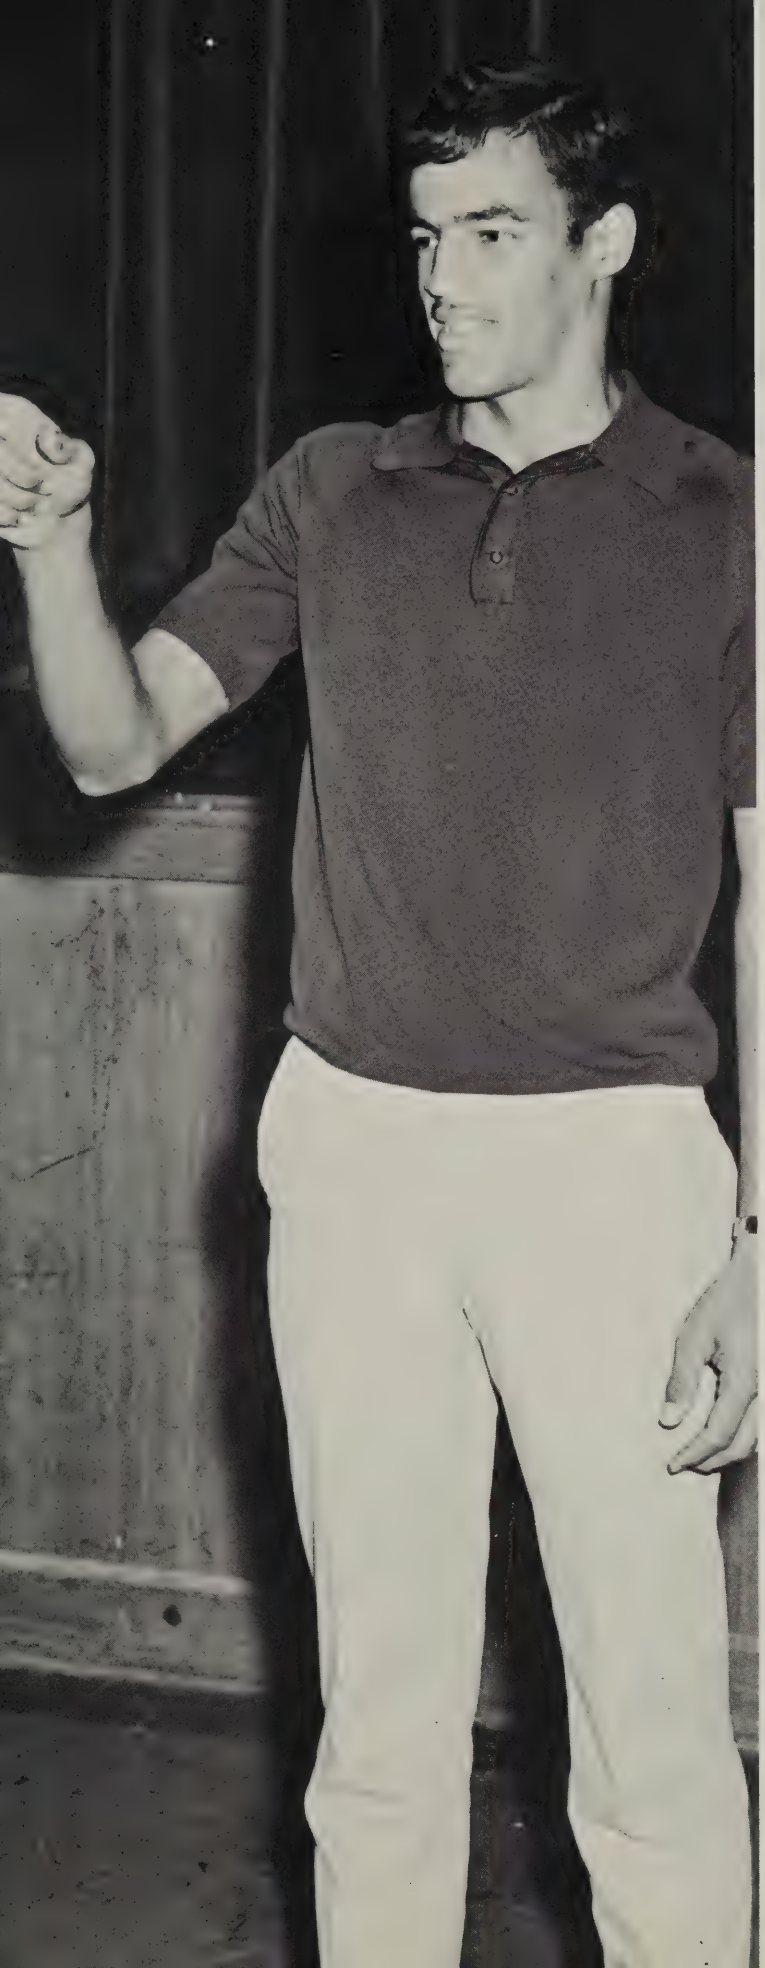

Drum major Jimmy Byrd still finds time to practice his trumpet after he leads the Franklin County High School Band during a rehearsal session.

Activities Delight One, And All

Chosen as majorettes are Stephanie Adams, Charlotte Kingery, featured twirler Betty English, Brenda Cundiff, Debbie Singleton, Anne Boitnott, and head majorette Lou Alice English.

Franklin County High School's Class of 1969 would long remember their senior year as the greatest that the school had ever known. Indeed, it was a year marked from the first day with challenges and responsibilities which could be met only by the people who had enjoyed such vital, demanding years before—the people of FCHS.

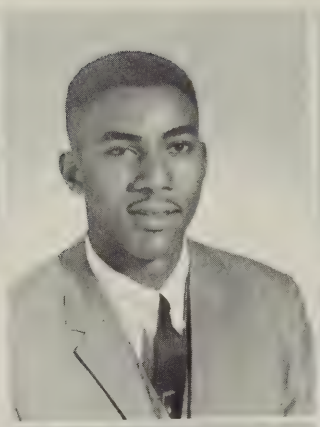

A tassel and a diploma were the tangible evidences of Graduation, the most exciting and fulfilling time in the lives of the seniors. Each had forgotten the minor discomforts and the disappointments of his high school career, and began to look forward to his future. With some sadness, the seniors left Franklin County High School as capable and confident graduates.

Juniors began a hectic, rewarding term with the election of capable classmates to lead them through a year filled to capacity with work and joy. The annual prom, the juniors' tribute to the Class of '69, occupied a place of prominence in the minds of each class member. Decisions reached, committees appointed, and plans formed, the Junior Class realized its dream of the most beautiful prom in school's history.

Feeling themselves a part of FCHS almost immediately, the sophomores began to strive for great achievement. Enthusiasm and effort crystallized into preparedness, and the Class of '71 had readied themselves for the responsibilities of the coming years.

Through foundations firmly laid by courage and compassion, the people of Franklin County High School achieved the ultimate successes—knowledge, happiness, and a promising future.

Phyllis Buckner Is Chosen

Working diligently throughout the '69 class year are President Phyllis Buckner, Vice-President Chuck Clement, Secretary Connie Washburn, and Treasurer Eddy Fitzgerald.

The Class of 1969, having survived its many struggles and challenges, completed its final year at Franklin County High School. Their first four years having flown rapidly by, the seniors looked forward from the beginning of school term to the activities, privileges, and responsibilities of "their" year.

Seniors, beginning preparation for college or for regular employment, worked diligently, filling every moment to the fullest. During the year, they participated in many special events—the last Prom, elections, exams, sports, plays, assemblies, and finally graduation itself. Seniors benefited from every event of the year, and the special occasions were remembered and cherished by all.

Looking toward the future, with its challenges, joys, and perhaps sadness, seniors knew that the high school years would remain in each mind and heart in the years ahead.

Jean Hodges, Charlotte Angle, Faye Sink, Sue Robertson, Connie Washburn, Ann Dudley, Vivian McCall, and Phyllis Buckner serve as Homeroom presidents throughout the year.

The Junior Class officers for 1968-1969 are Leslie Kent, Susan Law, Joe Bowman, President, and Naomi Bousman.

1968-1969 was a year of unforgettable memories for the juniors. Among their activities were receiving of class rings and the Junior-Senior Prom. The Juniors found their year difficult with college board examinations to take and novel subjects to deal with. After they had chosen their class officers to lead them, the Juniors began preparing for their full and assiduous year.

Although the Junior class was caught up in a whirl of reports, tests, and themes, they proved equal to the academic tasks, while extra-curricular activities developed qualities of leadership.

Each student in the class of 1970 began preparing for his individual tomorrow and facing the demand in his progressing life.

Represent Sophomores In The Student Council

The Sophomore Class of 1968-1969 had come a long way in the past three years – from insecure eighth graders, to up-and-coming freshmen, to stabilized sophomores.

Being a class of many and varied personalities and interests, they participated in a majority of all school activities, both athletic and academic. Whether it was football or Student Council, they displayed the boundless energy and spirit that are characteristic of their generation.

In the past three years they had been made aware that high school was not all fun, but included a great deal of hard work and time consuming study.

They were eagerly looking forward to the years ahead of them at Franklin County High School, and they felt sure that, through the guidance and encouragement of their parents, teachers, and friends, the future Class of 1971 would be ready to face the challenges of tomorrow.

Steve Angle and Phyllis Oakes find a quiet spot to sit down and plan for the upcoming weekend.

The students of Franklin County High School, organizing themselves into various clubs according to their interests and achievements, shared in a valuable part of the maturing process. The challenges through fellowship and service brought the enduring results of new ideas and attitudes, and of self-reliance. From the desire to attain a position of consequence and to establish harmony, the students were better able to serve their school and community as useful citizens.

The extra-curricular activities emphasized co-operation, understanding, and responsibility. Each member soon found himself working toward new goals, desirous of further honors for his group, and thus for FCHS. The benefit that came to the clubs through the efforts of their members brought additional opportunities to many, and pride to all.

In helping the students to discover himself, the school's organizations became vital aids to the social development of tomorrow's leaders. Because club life was as varied as the lives of the members, the emerging personalities had taken advantage of the myriad of opportunities through which talents were developed and abilities were refined.

The sharing of all the experiences of life was vastly more important than sole knowledge, and the wisdom gained through active participation could be found in no other facet of school life. For the satisfaction of executing worthwhile projects, each club member would remember his role in the organizations of Franklin County High School.

SCA Helps Guide, Direct, And Co-Ordinate

Leading the SCA were Cecil Young, vice-president; Faye Sink, secretary; Bonnie Bousman, treasurer; and Wayne Dudley, president.

All students enrolled at FCHS constituted the Student Cooperative Association. A representative group of this body known as the Student Council, which consisted of homeroom presidents, vice-presidents, and club delegates, met monthly to discuss and act on student needs and problems. As in past years, the Student Council, with the assistance of the entire student body, successfully completed many worthwhile projects. Among these were the school chest drive, the magazine sales campaign, participation in the international CARE project, decorating showcases, sponsoring a Senior Day, providing a school Christmas tree, and the publication of a Student Directory. Also, delegates were sent to the District SCA Convention held in Gretna.

Beta Club Officers are Barbara Brooks, Treasurer; Gail Flora, vice-president; Faye Sink, secretary; Connie Bousman, reporter; Mrs. Milam, sponsor; Mike Edens, president; Mr. Brown, sponsor.

Consisting of juniors and seniors excelling in scholarship, leadership, and character, the Beta Club strived to fulfill it's motto of "Let us lead by serving others."

Cooperation and hard work throughout the year made it possible for the club to present an initiation assembly to the student body, contribute to the Chest Drive, prepare a Christmas basket for a needy family, attend the state Beta Club Convention, and sponsor the spring visit of the Bloodmobile.

The Beta Club, governed by honor and trustworthiness, helped FCHS to have its best year ever.

Alpha Tri-Hi-Y Promotes The Spiritual,

Chosen as officers of the Alpha Tri-Hi-Y are Carol Flora, treasurer; Becky Young, secretary; Lou Alice English, chaplain; Vivian McCall, reporter; Bonnie Bousman, historian; Debra Geoghagan, president; Mrs. Boitnott, sponsor; Anne Dudley, vice-president.

Composed of senior girls united in a common purpose of creating, maintaining, and extending Christian standards throughout the home, school, and community, the Alpha Tri-Hi-Y strived to achieve various projects of service. During the year, members conducted a bake sale, participated in an Induction and Rededicating Service, entered a car in the Homecoming Parade, sponsored a needy family for Christmas, prepared displays in the school showcase, presented teachers pencils and attended Model General Assembly.

Affiliated with the state and national YMCA, this group of girls is fostering a better spirit and fellowship throughout the school.

With a theme, "Security In A World of Changing Values," based upon a platform of clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship and clean living, the Alpha Tri-Hi-Y dedicated its goals to acquire these standards, and by them they were judged.

As one of their many service projects of the club, Linda Eicher and Lou Alice English have daily, morning devotions over the intercom.

Trinity Tri-Hi-Y Members Help To Create

Mary Ruth Gilbert, Betty English, and Charlotte Kingery brought honor to the club through being elected as district officers.

Maintaining its purpose to work throughout the home, school, and community, Trinity Tri-Hi-Y served willingly. Junior and sophomore girls worked with Christian devotion as well as with determination.

Dedicated in genuine loyalty, Trinity attented District Conference, planned and participated in Induction and Rededication Service, brought Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to the needy families, and, in addition, won many offices in the district to lead the various clubs.

A year full of fellowship with other girls, along with Christian efforts, Trinity helped to "create, maintain, and extend."

Science Club Sponsors District Science Fair

The Science Club provided an opportunity for students to benefit from sharing scientific interests and abilities. It also served to stimulate interest and participation in scientific research and to encourage the application of critical thinking to problem solving.

The club engaged in such activities as discussions of current scientific problems, participation in County science fair, and the development of individual projects, along with viewing movies and demonstrations.

This year the Club sponsored the Franklin County Science Fair.

Future Teachers

"It is because nations tend to stupidity and baseness that mankind moves so slowly: it is because individuals have a capacity for better things that it moves at all." It was because of this individual capacity that Future Teachers existed. They attempted to move the world toward the "better things" of life. They cooperated with school projects, such as floats for homecoming activities and guides for school programs. In addition, they honored the faculty in some way at least once a year. In community affairs, they loaned aid in such things as the poverty program with their Christmas project. Their own members were given an opportunity to display and share their talents on the regular monthly programs. To observe "Teaching Career Month" this past year, over forty FTA'ers traveled to Lynchburg Training School to observe the training of the mentally retarded – an experience both enlightening and moving. "The whole art of teaching is only the art of awakening the natural curiosity of young minds–;" this was the purpose of Future Teachers of America.

Modern Foreign Language Club Increases

Officers of the MFL are Chuck Clement, president; Joe Wingfield, secretary; Faye Sink, vice-president; Teresea Stultz, historian; and Joe Bowman, treasurer.

For two years the French and Spanish students had joined together to form the Modern Foreign Language Club. The result had been very encouraging and satisfying.

Illustrated lectures by both outside speakers and teachers who had traveled abroad proved interesting and informative. Films and examples of native art, clothing, and money were important factors in stimulating interest.

Both French and Spanish students enjoyed learning and singing the songs of France and Spain. To further broaden their knowledge and cultural appreciation, some members of the club corresponded with pen pals in France and Spain, and many took advantage of the new and better books in the school library.

Initiation time was enjoyed by both the beginning and older students in the club. The native costumes and good-humored fun of the annual initiation captured the spirit of fellowship of the club.

were chosen as the best-dressed Romans on initiation day.

The Latin Club, known as the "Societas Latina," was a chapter of the Junior Classical League. The purpose of JCL, which is now international, was to encourage among young people an interest in and appreciation of the civilization, language, literature, and art of ancient Greece and Rome, and to give them some understanding of the debt of our own culture to that of classical antiquity.

The club admitted all students who were studying Latin. Of the phases of Roman and Greek life dramatized by the club, the most popular has been the annual Roman banquet which brought to a close the celebration of Latin week and a greater opportunity to appreciate that "Latin Lives Today!"

4-H Members Strive To Better Their Environment

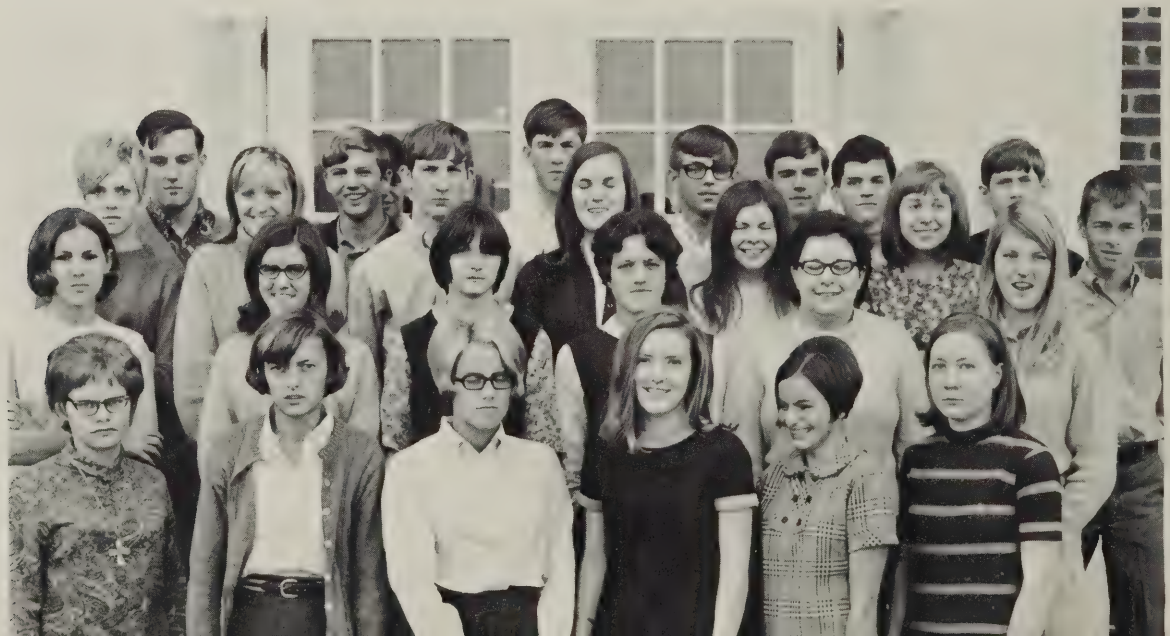

4-H OFFICERS: Gail Anderson, treasurer; Marsha Kingery, president; Bill Kingery, vice-president; Stephanie Adams, song-leader.

The 4-H Club was known widely and was supported by field colleges such as Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

4-H members who excelled in a project received awards ranging from pins and ribbons to trips and scholarships. The goal of every member was to become a 4-H Club All-Star, a rank given to those who have shown outstanding qualities in leadership and citizenship.

An ideal 4-H member was always working to better the present and future and to develop the qualities of leadership. He strived so much for self-improvement that he had no time to criticize others, and he was just as enthusiastic for the success of others as for his own. He was to think of the best, expect the best, and achieve the best.

Acquire Skills For Everyday Use

Future Homemakers of America was the national organization of students studying homemaking in high school. It was an incorporated, non-profit organization, supported by membership dues. The main purpose of the club was to emphasize the importance of safety in the home. Recognizing the importance of safety, the Future Homemakers tried to make themselves more aware of the great need of safety everywhere.

This national organization provided opportunities for developing individual and group initiative in planning and carrying out activities related to safety. Future Homemakers of America was also an active participant in many areas of the activities of the local school and community and has been an outstanding state chapter for thirteen years.

With a total of 345 members, the Franklin County Chapter of the Future Farmers of America was the largest chapter in the state for the sixth consecutive year.

Chapter activities were planned for the development of leadership and citizenship, as well as achievement toward successful establishment in Agricultural Occupations.

Members participated in Public Speaking, Degree Team, Tractor Driving, Forestry, and Dairy Judging Contests. Individual members strived for advanced degrees and awards.

Other cooperative and leadership activities were used to stimulate the students to study and work hard in order to prepare themselves for various vocations.

Distributive Education Club Provides

Serving as officers of the D.E. Club are Jewel Nichols, reporter; Diane Hall, treasurer; Carolyn Hodges, secretary; Rosemary Naff, president.

The Franklin County High School Distributive Education program prepared individuals for careers in wholesale, retail, and service selling establishments. It also provided practical training and experience for students who planned to continue their education in marketing, merchandising, and related fields.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America, known as DECA, was an organization of students enrolled in Distributive Education classes. DECA was organized on local, state, and national levels to provide incentives and recognition for DE students.

The Franklin County Chapter of DECA had many projects this year—two schoolwide projects and four outside the school. Their major project was aid to a needy family during Thanksgiving and Christmas. The members made two field trips—one to Crossroads Mall in Roanoke and one to the Kroger Distribution Center in Salem. Also, for the first time many members purchased DECA Blazers.

One of the many projects of the club was to clean up the football field each morning after a game.

THE FRANKLIN EAGLE Covers School Life

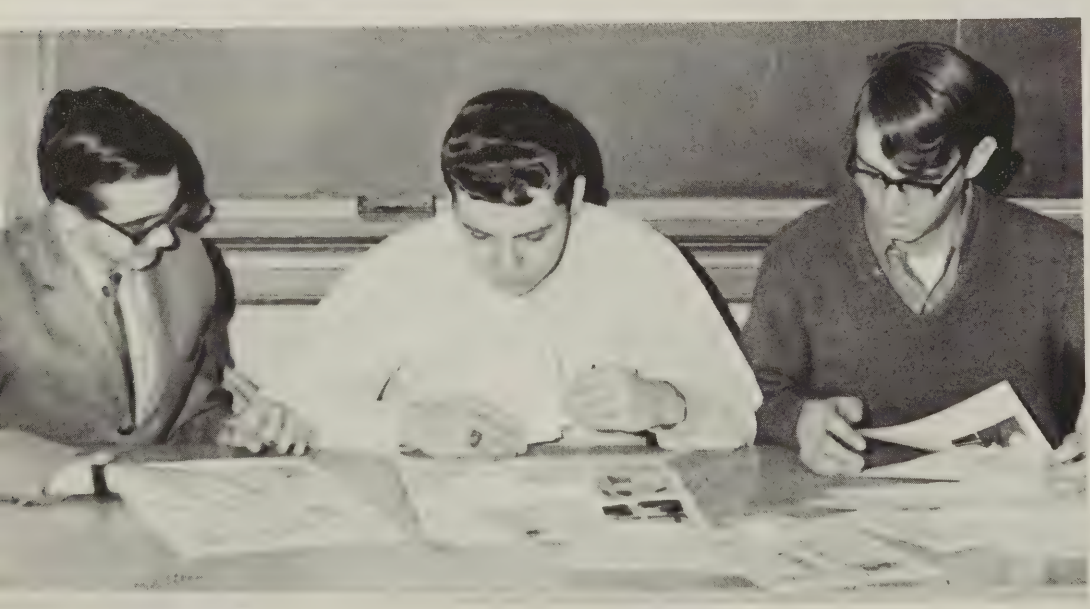

Mrs. Booth, newspaper sponsor, assists Ann Clayton, editor-in-chief, in laying out the final copy for The Franklin Eagle.

This year, as in many previous years, The Franklin Eagle worked to originate greater issues than ever before. Each member of the staff worked diligently to make his stories appeal to the readers of Franklin County High School.

Relaxation was a forgotten word, for as soon as the layouts were completed and sent in, the staff was eagerly finding stories for the next issue.

Each issue was a challenge to the staff, yet the experience provided was well-rewarding.

Pictures The People Of Franklin County High

"I thought we had already sent that picture in! Oh, somebody will have to talk to Mr. Kent!"

Emerging from utter confusion in the spring of 1968, the annual staff plunged into the never-ending task of creating the '69 Animo. Retiring senior members had chosen editors and the business managers, leaving the new staff to lay the financial foundation for their annual through the sale of advertisements to local businessmen.

With their ad campaign under way, staff members planned, sold subscriptions, drew layouts, and took pictures throught the summer and most of the school year. Although the staff members met together during first period, many hours after school were spent writing copy, typing, and indexing names and activities. Work and worry about the next deadline crystallized into the '69 Animo, a memorial to the people of FCHS.

Enlivens Games With Enthusiasm

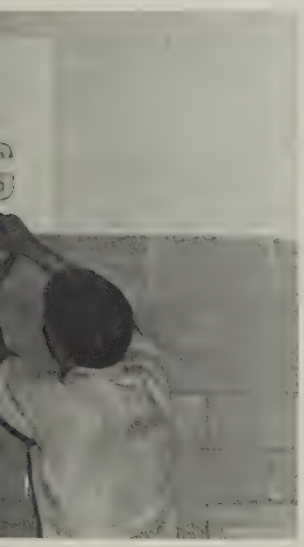

The Varsity Club officers of the 1968-69 year are Lee Knowles, president; Wayne Jones, vice-president; Jean Hodges, secretary; Jimmy Byrd, treasurer; Mike Smith, historian.

The Varsity Club was an organization whose purpose was to improve the student body through the club's various activities and projects.

The club members were students who had earned a letter in a varsity sport or in cheerleading. To those who excelled in a sport, a special award was given. The club recognized its lettermen by awarding each member a letter F. After he earned two Varsity letters, each member received a sweater.

Varsity Club activities included the sale of football programs, the initiation of new members, and the engagement of special speakers. Their special projects included providing steps to the track field, placing "No Smoking" signs in the gym, and planting shrubbery around the school. All activities were carried out under the guidance and supervision of the coaches and the cheerleader's sponsor.

As cheerleaders Jean Hodges and Charlotte Angle look on in admiration, Wendell Brooks and Gerald Hall show off the FCHS sweater.

After winning a superior rating at the District Play Festival in 1967-1968 with Dark of the Moon, and beginning the 1968-1969 session with a very successful production of Web of Murder, the Mask and Gavel Society of Franklin County High School had gained a large and experienced membership.

In the spring the Society presented three one-act plays for the public. Also, a special production was given for the enjoyment of the entire student body. As in the past, several club members participated in the 1968-1969 District One Act Play Festival.

Library Club Members Aid Students And Faculty

Officers of the Library Club include: Rita Clingenpeel, reporter; Patricia Bernard, treasurer; Bonnie Pugh, vice-president; Sandra Mullins, president.

The Library Club was a service organization which gave students who enjoy reading an opportunity to work with books, to render a service to their school, and to enjoy fellowship with other members.

Club members were dependable, efficient, and must have had an academic standing which would permit the use of study hall time for library work.

Training in library procedure was given to each girl. This knowledge enabled her to assume responsibility for many routine duties such as shelving books, writing overdue book notices, and charging out books to other students and teachers.

Initiation day finds the best-dressed members of the library club to be Regena Shivley as Martha Washington, Glenna Hawkins as Miriam Makeba, Cheryl Leedy as Huck Finn, and Evonne Holland as G I Joe.

Choir Members Give Of Their Time And Talents

The officers chosen from the choirs include Ernestine Starkey, Connie Washburn, Marcia Milliron, Phyllis Kelly, Linda Eicher, Gail Flora, Joyce Saunders, Phyllis Dunnings, Cathy Taylor, Phyllis Abshire, Patsy Brown, and David Jones.

Selected as members of the Women's Quartet are Charlotte Dillon, Juanita Smith (alternate), Darnell Tench, Donna Bowling, and Phyllis Abshire.

During Numerous Practices And Performances

Edward Morgan, Eddie Greer, David Jones and Tommy Gourley, members of the Concert Choir, combine their talents to form the Men's Quartet.

As the school year began, the choir members began to assemble and to practice for the various concerts to be given during the year. The members of all three choirs worked hard to prepare for their concerts. This year the Concert Choir worked especially hard to prepare numbers for the record they had planned to make.

But choir was not all work. The members of the choirs felt a sense of satisfaction and of great pleasure from presenting successful concerts. The choirs hoped that they were able to bring a meaningful message to their audiences through music. They especially hoped that the student body enjoyed and appreciated the effort of the choirs in trying to present a musical program for them as much as the choirs enjoyed presenting the programs.

CHORALLETTES: Row 1: Johnson, Fisher, Milliron, Kelly, Wells, Washburn, Philpott. Row 2: Starkey, Dunnings, Saunders, Edwards, Chism.

Feeling himself a part of Franklin County High School, each student eagerly participated in extracurricular activities at the school. Many special events, as well as the hours of preparation which insured success, remained in the memories of the people who were involved. Caught up in these lovely reminiscences, students eagerly anticipated all the special moments that they knew the year would bring.

The fall brought homecoming festivities. Everyone participated in the election of the homecoming queen and her court, and members of almost every school organization labored to make their club's float the most beautiful in the homecoming parade. Hours of planning and more hard work made the football game, and the victory dance afterwards, a tremendous success.

Dances were sponsored by individual clubs at Christmas and other times, but the Junior-Senior Prom was the biggest social event of the year. As is the tradition, the Junior Class created a memorable evening in honor of the seniors. No member of either class would exchange the annual Prom for any other event in the school year.

Certain students distinguished themselves and Franklin County High School through personal achievement. The musically talented were rewarded by being chosen to All-State Band and All-State-Choir, while others received letters of commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Exam. Eight students were honored by being chosen to attend Boys' and Girls' State.

The people who were involved in these activities met the challenges with distinction, and everyone would remember with pride and wistfulness the special events that were the highlights of their lives at FCHS.

Privileged to lead the Grand March are Phyllis Perdue, president of the Senior Class, and her escort, Dickie Arrington, while Bonnie Bousman and Monte Hodges represent the Junior Class.

Juniors And Seniors Create Enduring Memories

Although the dance floor is somewhat crowded, juniors and seniors enjoy the music of the Divots.

With the magic of hard work, the juniors transformed the everyday gymnasium into a fairyland of flowers. The romantic theme of "Moonlight and Roses" lent itself to the creation of a rose garden surrounded by a white picket fence to provide a memorable setting for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Dancing to the sound of the Divots, Seniors put away thoughts of graduation and enjoyed the last social event of their high school days. Juniors relaxed from a week of decorating to attend their first prom.

Besides dancing, those attending the prom occupied themselves with many other activities. Wishes that life would be as happy as this night were made at the wishing well. Led by the president of each class, every couple paraded around the gym in the Grand March. Refreshments at intermission provided an opportunity to relax and admire the romantic setting created by the Junior Class. Tired but happy, each person left with a wealth of memories to cherish in years to come.

During the Grand March, the juniors inspect with pride the work that the entire class has done in order to make their Prom the most beautiful in the school's history.

Despite protests, Cecil Young and his date show the photographer how the dance should be done.

In The Land Of Moonlight And Roses

After weeks of work by the juniors and hours of dancing by everyone, it's time for refreshments!

Homecoming '68

Students, dates, parents, and alumni found the opportunity to meet and enjoy the beauty of two hectic days at Franklin High–Homecoming '68. For the student, it was an opportunity to invite a special friend to the semi-formal dance, the Homecoming football game, and the parade. For the parent and alumni, it was a chance to rediscover FCHS and to rekindle old friendships.

The glow of Homecoming activities began weeks before that special weekend, with plans being laid by many of the clubs for the parade. Days of hard work paid off for the float-building clubs, but also for the Varsity football team, which soundly trounced James River High. The following evening, the people of FCHS gathered to dance to the music of The Jokers, and enjoy the beauty of an "Up, Up, and Away" Homecoming. The affair was highlighted by the crowning of lovely Bonnie Bousman as Homecoming Queen, and the hailing of Sherman Taylor as Mr. Football.

Assemblies, Pep Rallies, And Special Projects

As part of the annual Christmas Assembly, the student body is privileged to hear a beautiful performance by the Concert Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Frances Keen.

Who's that stepping from Professor (Nancy) Pasley's Time Machine? It seems to be a Stone Age ancestor of Jean Hodges, who kindly consented to appear at a cheerleaders' Spirit Assembly.

Enrich Life At FCHS

The pursuit of a high school education can often be a long, arduous process. Long hours of study and great pressure combine forces, and book-weary students find themselves slipping into monotony. In answer to this problem, the people of Franklin County High School often take time out from a busy routine to participate in an assembly, or to admire the work of fellow students.

Standing in respect to the seniors or cheering the basketball team on to victory, the students responded warmly because each understood the responsibility he held to those who had worked to insure the success of the assembly, pep rally, or play.

In addition to assemblies for the student body, several clubs undertook projects to beautify the school. An attractive showcase or a bulletin board displaying school news kept the students informed on opportunities open to them as high school graduates. Perhaps the most striking of all was the glittering Christmas tree provided and decorated by the Student Council.

Carol Flora, Charlotte Kingery, Vivian McCall, and Wayne Jones, members of the Student Council, spread the Christmas spirit by decorating a tree in the school cafeteria.

During an assembly entitled "This Atomic World," Mr. Philip Lamb bombards the nucleus of a radium atom with a neutron.

"Have you got that spirit?" Yeah, man, the Varsity basketball team proves that they've got it in a pep rally before the first home game.

FCHS Students

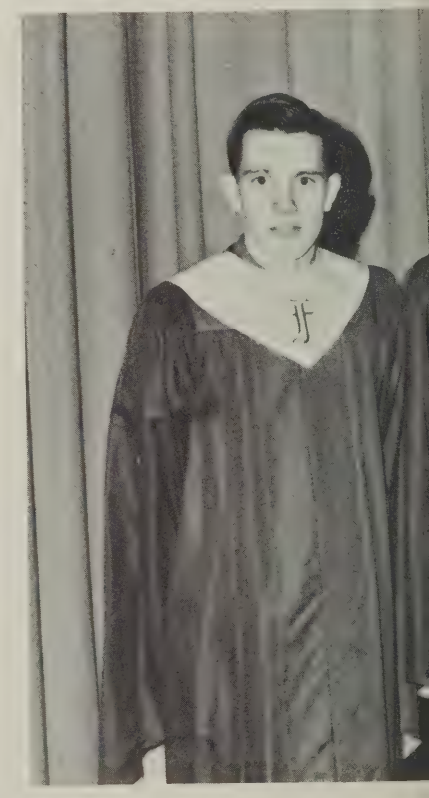

Danny Bowles, who won the State Dairy Judging Contest, received national recognition by participating in the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri.

Franklin County High School has long achieved excellence in a variety of fields. The component parts of the school afford the alert student every means to benefit from his education, and thus to bring honor to himself and to his school. It is evident that this merit has been achieved in the acknowledgement that a number of students have been commended for outstanding work.

Academically, five students received awards of recognition for outstanding ability. Beth Dillon, Durant Glover, and Brenda Perdue won Letters of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, and Brenda Edwards and Thelma Holmes were eligible for the National Achievement Award.

Because his talent for the French horn was so great and almost unexcelled, Eddie Fitzgerald was chosen to the All-State Band. Not to be outdone by its musical counterpart, the choir delegated Phyllis Abshire, Donna Bowling, Tommy Gourley, Eddie Greer, and Edward Morgan to the All-State Choir.

Eddie Fitzgerald, a member of the FCHS Band, won the coveted honor of a seat in the All-State Band.

Achieve Excellence Through Determination

National Merit and National Achievement winners are Brenda Edwards, Durant Glover, Thelma Holmes, Beth Dillon, and Brenda Perdue.

Because of their outstanding musical abilities, Phyllis Abshire, Eddie Greer, Tommy Gourley, and Edward Morgan were chosen to All-State Choir. Not pictured is Donna Bowling.

You're the living end, Sherman! FCHS's Mr. Football, Sherman Taylor, is also all-district and second team state end.

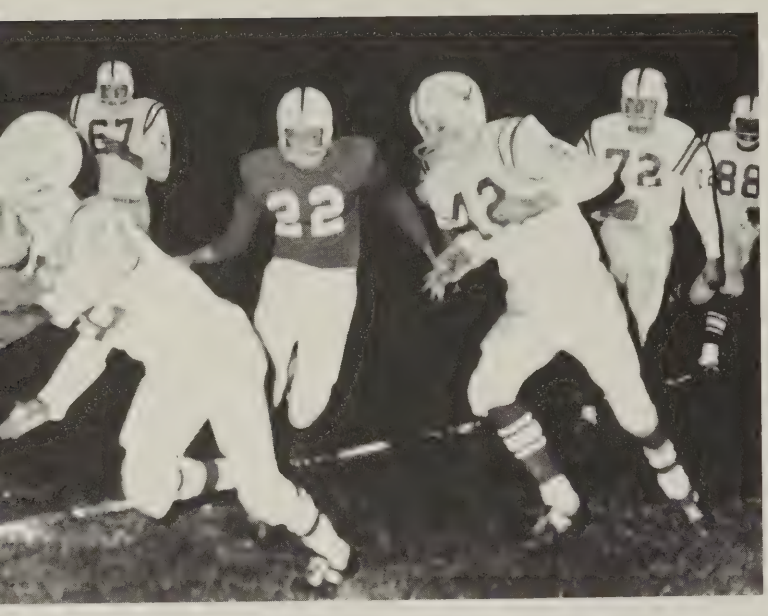

Every person at Franklin County High School felt the importance of the athletic contests in which their classmates were involved, although few realized how much skill and how many hours of practice were involved in the field of the school's sports.

Excellent school spirit and a feeling of loyalty to the school were stimulated by the games and meets. Each person felt himself a part of his school, as banners were raised, cheers yelled, and perhaps a few tears shed. Whatever the official scorekeeper reported, this sense of pride at having done one's best was the real winning. In this victory, too, all could participate, and of it everyone could be proud.

When the game was over, the school's athletes and their student and faculty adherents would be ready for the coming game, the coming season, even the coming year. Each person's spirit and the tensions of every game would build again, and another great season of sports would come to FCHS.

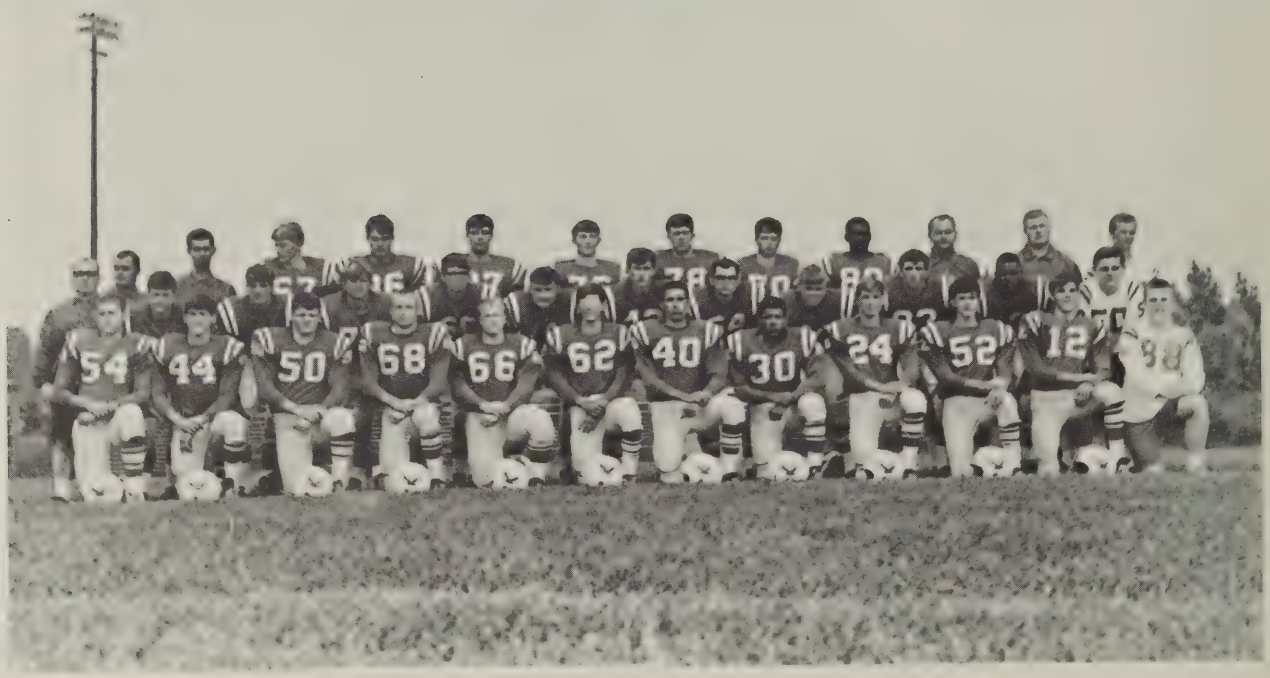

Inexperienced, Fighting Eagles Excel

Hit 'em at the hips! A flock of Eagles rush to the aid of a fellow tackler against James River.

Disappointment was the key word used in describing the Eagles' football squad as it struggled to a 3–7 record. Co-captain Lee Knowles, an outstanding fullback, was riddled with injuries along with several other members of the Eagle team. Even though they were down early in the season, they were never out. With big wins over Clifton Forge and William Byrd, the Franklin gridders had the momentum to keep the Homecoming streak of wins intact by defeating James River.

All district and second team state end, Sherman Taylor, and Co-captain Wayne Jones headed the showing of complete teamwork for a beneficial season. With the guiding hands of experienced Coach Richard Foutz and Coach Frank Ciamillo, the team, composed largely of sophomores and juniors, will be heard from in future years.

Wray And Young Lead Varsity Team

Senior Robert Wray goes up for another pair of points against Bassett High.

Fighting back from a slow start, the Eagles compiled an 11-6 record. The FCHS five charged their way into the second slot in the Piedmont standings by decisive wins over Fieldale-Collinsville, Bassett, and Drewry Mason. Outside the district the Eagles used a lightning fast-break and the hot shooting of Robert Wray and Cornell Cooke, while the fight for the ball fell into the hands of Cecil Young and Wayne Dudley.

Co-captain Robert Wray broke the school record for individual scoring with 40 points. Co-captain Cecil Young created the team's desire to win with his all-around ability on the court. The late-season start of Cornell Cooke brought the Eagles that extra "go" for tournament.

With many wide margins of victory, Coach Al Johnson substituted freely, and several younger boys, including Paul Mattox and Leon Bowman, received a chance to impress the coach and the crowd.

Through Season Of Disappointment, Reward

Wayne Dudley shoots for a goal as a Bassett defender moves in to block the score.

Cornell Cooke and Chuck Clement defense a scoring attempt by Bassett in an important district game.

Robert Wray demonstrates the Wray Wizardry, with which he set a new high scoring record for Franklin's Varsity.

Second Place In Piedmont Race

Mike Burnop of Roanoke Catholic makes a vain attempt to trim the Eagles score by blocking Cecil Young's shot.

Cecil Young makes a fast-break work on an easy lay-up with rival William Byrd.

Cornell Cooke easily outjumps Martinsville's big John Christensen and puts the momentum behind another shot for the Eagle cause.

Emerging victorious in only two games, the Junior Varsity football team started the 1968 season on top by winning their first game, with Stuart High School. They lost by only one touchdown in the games with Liberty, Fieldale-Collinsville, and Drewry Mason.

The JV gridders received training which would prove valuable in future years from Coach Joe Gann. Many hours of hard practice paid off when the team was led on the field by Co-captains Danny Woods and Mike Woods. The valuable experience the Baby Eagles received should be instrumental in their development into a fine Varsity squad.

Preparing a JV team for the 68-69 season was put upon the shoulders of Coach John Surgener. While new recruits moved into his hands every year, he patiently watched them become Varsity material. For this year's team, all was not lost. The Baby Eagles broke even with an 8-8 record. Holding their own in the district with a 5-3 record showed a promising future for the FCHS Eagles. Each game some Baby Eagle made a smooth play or a good move which put a promising glimmer in the coaches' eyes.

Coming off the boards with rebounds were big Benny Gibson and Harry Smith, each 6'2" in height. Balancing out the attack were forward Barry Altice and guards Buddy Helms and Fred Doyle.

Lands Second-Place Tie In Piedmont District

The Strawberry stretch . . . Wayne Furrow, alias Strawberry, snags a high throw and tags the base for an out.

The Eagles had the desire and the drive to have a successful season, but losing five games by only one run had them down. The Eagles never relinquished the idea of winning and ended the last half of the season with three victories, all district games, to prove that they had a place in the standings. These boys never went down to defeat without a gallant effort and they finished the 1967 season with a tie for second place in the Piedmont District.

The catching and pitching duties of All-District catcher Ronnie Hodges, the big bat of Wayne Furrow, and the all-around performance of Jerry Ferguson led the team in inspiration and ability to carry out a beneficial season.

FCHS Cindermen Capture District Title

As records fell and events were won, the 1968 track team gained the Piedmont District Championship without a defeat.

Starting the season with a triumph in the Piedmont Relay, the cindermen of opposing schools, district and non-district, were quick to give recognition to the FCHS Eagles.

Under the leadership of Coach Richard Foutz and Coach Earl Flora, the Eagles dominated the district for the third consecutive year. Their running, jumping, and throwing propelled the Eagles to their maximum ability.

Lee Knowles pushed ahead for three new school records, one in state competition. John Smith and Cornell Cooke also starred by setting high jump and broad jump records, respectively.

With the pride of the outgoing trackmen instilled in the younger trackmen, FCHS will be a high ranking track team for many years to come.

And Display Spirit, Potential

With only one year of experience under their belts, the FCHS matmen gained second place in the Piedmont District standings. Keeping the attitude of good sportsmanship and, most important, of winning, the Eagles fought hard against strong opponents.

The stiff competition in practice made the Eagles exert an all-out effort. Determination not to be defeated in qualifying rounds showed through in regular season matches, but with the instinct of winning a little stronger. Under the guidance of Coach Joe Gann, experienced younger members – such as Mark Cranford and Neil Hudson – were able to hold top positions this year, and should be able to knock off some top opponents next year.

Upon the graduation of just four members this season, the remaining sophomores and juniors will be ready to rank FCHS number one in the 1969-70 season.

Darryl Abshire attempts to pick his man up and throw him to the mat during a match with Martinsville.

Despite Losses, Golf Team Keeps Spirit Alive

Don't get too close—it might explode! The little white ball seems to mystify Rick Johnson and Steve Agee on the third putting green.

Although the 1968 golf team had high hopes at the beginning of the season of breaking the losing streak, they lost their momentum early and could not re-establish it. The 0-8 record of the team was caused by not only a lack of experience (six of the eight were juniors), but also the graduation of many talented duffers the year before. Coach Al Johnson undertook the task of rebuilding his team from the tee to the green.

Led by John Adams, Steve Agee, and Rick Johnson, the remaining duffers were Chuck Clement, Fred Hall, Ralph Wimmer, Sam Witcher, and Dudley Woody.

Cross Country Team Takes Trophy

Mrs. Jane Crawford and team captain Francine Scott admire the trophy which the girls won in their first meet with Virginia Baptist.

The first season of the Girl's Cross-Country team could only be described as satisfying. Taking a trophy in their first meet, these girls kept the FCHS tradition of good sportsmanship, team spirit, and athletic ability.

Led by Captain Francine Scott, the girls established themselves in the athletic program by creating records which serve as the basis of the team's goals for the future. The record time of 8.08 for a one and one-quarter mile course, set by their captain, and the morale-building, led by Phyllis Buckner, paid dividends in the first meet with Virginia Baptist. Franklin, in the form of Francine Scott, led the first race, and Francine led Franklin in the second and run-off races.

Under the capable coaching of Mrs. Jane Crawford and Mrs. Donnie Tacy, this team views the future with anticipation.

Cheerleaders Promote Spirit And Sportsmanship

MRS. NANCY CIAMILLO, SPONSOR, discusses plans with head cheerleader Charlotte Angle.

"Lots of fun and lots of hard work"—That was the cheerleaders' slogan.

The hard work began as soon as Varsity Cheerleaders were chosen last spring. There was a day-clinic in North Carolina, summer practice sessions, and a week at cheerleading camp at the 4-H Educational Center (at which they won an award in every competition).

They started the school year with bright new uniforms to emphasize their pep and enthusiasm.

Football and basketball seasons brought pep rallies, sock hops, posters, decorating goal posts, and Homecoming activities, and with all that, a great deal of excitement.

School Spirit was effectively aroused through the "Spirit Stick", "What's the Word" banners, and a Spirit Assembly was held on January 7.

Any Varsity Cheerleader would tell you there was no greater feeling than representing Franklin County High School while cheering for "the Mighty Eagles." It consisted of equal amounts of "Lots of fun and lots of hard work."

The students of Franklin County High School, as members of a complex and business-like society, became acutely aware of the free-enterprise system, in which they held a position of great importance. Because these young people found that many needs were fulfilled by the business world, commercial and industrial enterprises found themselves faced with the challenges of today's youth. These challenges crystallized into competition, and merchants took advantage of many opportunities to improve their products and to present them to the public.

One of the most effective methods of advertisement had been proven to be the patronization of the yearbook. In order to make wise decisions in the face of so many excellent products, the people of Franklin County High School found it useful to consult the advertising section of their annual. By so doing, they were able to learn a great deal about many businesses, and thus found it possible to weigh the values of one product against those of another.

At the same time, the competative commercial system offered a challenge to the business world. Constant improvement in every field by businessmen was made possible through the support given them by the public; the result was progress.

The students at Franklin County High School expressed their appreciation to and confidence in the merchants and business leaders who had helped to make this yearbook a reality. All enthusiastically encouraged others to likewise support the advertisers.

These Were The People

The people of Franklin County High School were proud that they had worked together to meet the goals and dreams of each individual. Coaches and sportsmen drilled endlessly, and the race was won. Eagle fans and cheerleaders created the school spirit that was so important at every sports event. The faculty, working with the administration, helped seniors to reach the important goal of graduation. Because of the many challenging and enriching experiences of school life, these people would always have fond memories of their high school careers, and would never forget 1969 at Franklin County High School.

Dan,
Ltr

Dan
It's been nice knowing knowing you all years. Good luck next year. I'll see you around.
Jesse Slade

DAN,
I HAVE REALLY HAD
LOT OF FUN WITH YOU
IN D.E. THIS YEAR.
REMEMBER MR. SIMMONS
HIS GREAT SMARTNESS.
HAVE A FUN SUMMER
& MAYBE I'LL SEE
YOU THEN. BE GOOD!
MAYBE THE DEV.
WON'T BE SEEING YOU. LOTS OF
LUCK TO A REALLY
CUTE GUY. LOVE YA,
SARAH

Dan
It's been nice knowing
Hope you like your car. Have a great summer and don't get fat much —
Love Jessie

Dan It was nice working with you the short time I did. Follow
the future see you
Jane

Dan,

Well, another year has gone by and I can't say that I regret it! We've really had some good times in English! It's a wonder Mrs. Lovell hasn't thrown us out on our head as much as we talk. I've really enjoyed having English with you this year and getting to know you better! I hope you have a wonderful summer but don't over do it! I hope we have some classes together next year so we can do some more talking. Lots of luck in the future because you deserve it! Stay sweet & cute and you'll always go a long way in life! Take care of yourself and May God Bless You!

Love ya,
Pauline Mitchell
(11th grade)

Dan,
You're a real great guy.
Best luck
in the future.
It's been great having
English with you.
Robin Peters

DAN,
IT'S BEEN GREAT
KNOWING SUCH A SWEET
GUY. WISH YOU THE BEST
IN EVERYTHING BE GOOD! HAVE A WILD
SUMMER

BONNIE

Dan
you asked for it now here it is Dotty H.

Dan
Its been great having homeroom + D.E. with you this year. Don't forget the D.E. picnic. Talk it easy. Take it any way you can get it.
Ronnie.

Dan,
Its' been great having English with you. Good luck to a great guy,
Norma

Dan,
Ive enjoyed having bookkeeping class this year. Best of luck always to a real dumb dumb.
Cathy J.

Love ya Mr T.
Rita C.
Good Luck to You.

Dan,

Well this has really been a cold one. Your friend
St. M. Sangeren really hustles in band and Miss.
Lovell really hustles in English. Just keep banging on those things Ludwig's like that, & we'll have it put out set together and play a little daddy-cool-on-the-walls. Well guess that will let behave yourself and best of luck in the future & a real cat, eh. Bill Kruger
